

Translation from German

Danube University Krems

Danube University Krems is Europe's leading university for continuing education. As the only public university for continuing education in the German-speaking area it specialises in upskilling programmes for working persons and, in teaching and research, is engaged in tackling current and future social challenges. Currently around 9,000 students from more than 90 countries are enrolled in Master's studies and brief programmes.

To strengthen our team at the Faculty of Business and Globalization/Department for Migration and Globalization we are looking for a

Senior scientist (post doc) in the field of international migration

38.5 hours/week

Advertisement No. SB17-0191

Your tasks

- Interdisciplinary research and teaching in the fields of international migration, migration policy and related topics
- Teaching and supervision of graduate students
- Publishing research findings in highly ranked, peer-reviewed scientific journals
- Development and support of university courses
- Identifying new research areas and raising funds for major research projects
- Engaging in national and international research projects and collaborations

Your profile

- PhD in economics, politics, sociology, geography, population studies or cognate discipline
- Proven teaching and publication record in fields relating to migration
- Experience in interdisciplinary research and proven expertise in the application of quantitative research methods
- Interest in the development and management of university courses
- Documented success in the soliciting research funding
- Experience in setting up and managing collaborative research projects with national and international partners from science and public administration
- Excellent command of spoken and written English, German skills are desirable but not necessary

Your perspective

- A full-time position (38.5 hours per week - flexible working hours) and a minimum gross monthly salary of EUR 2,738.91 (job group W3/1 according to the Work and Remuneration Regulations); we are willing to pay a higher salary according to qualifications and experience
- Danube University Krems offers selected post-doc lecturers an opportunity to apply for an assistant professorship as part of the envisaged qualification process and to further qualify for an "Associate Professorship" within a maximum period of six years after fulfilling a qualification agreement.
- An innovative and modern working environment at Campus Krems
- Excellent opportunities of continuing education with the University's own programmes, a comprehensive offer of health promotion and Campus Sport; the University's own child care facility "Campus Kids"
- Good transport links – Campus shuttle bus from the railway station

Persons with disabilities who meet the required qualification criteria are expressly invited to apply for this position and their applications will be given special consideration.

We are looking forward to receiving your convincing online application by 28 February 2018. For detailed information please see: <http://www.donau-uni.ac.at/de/aktuell/jobs/index.php>