

Structural Racism in WA State's Tax Code: Strategies for Action & Improving Health

Tuesday, May 21, 2024
5:30 – 7:00 p.m.
Zoom

The racial wealth gap in the United States is a major political and social determinant of racial inequities in health. The structural racism that produces this wealth gap is supported through regressive tax codes and other tax policy throughout the country, including our state tax code here in Washington.

In this webinar, organization representatives will discuss:

- Tax issues that the WA state legislature may face this coming year
- Potential impacts on the racial wealth gap
- Ways to get involved and help make Washington's tax code more equitable

Scan to register!
bit.ly/dgh-structural-racism-webinar

Please contact James Pfeiffer (jamespf@uw.edu) with any questions.

UW Faculty or staff are expressing their own personal opinions and do not represent the department or UW.

The University of Washington is committed to providing access and accommodation in its services, programs, and activities. To make a request connected to a disability or health condition contact jamespf@uw.edu.

W DEPARTMENT OF GLOBAL HEALTH

PANELISTS

Chelsea McElroy
*Statewide Coordinator,
 Washington for Black Lives*

Samuel Martin
*CEO and Founder,
 SDM Consulting*

Tracy Yeung
*Senior Policy Analyst,
 Washington State Budget and Policy Center*

Lilly Deerwater
*Economic Inequity and Health Program Manager,
 Washington Physicians for Social Responsibility*

Anjum Hajat
*Associate Professor,
 UW Department of Epidemiology*

